

Boost Your Biochar Business

(on IBI's new website--in development!)

Have you been looking for a unique way to make people who are interested in biochar aware of your business and support the international organization that supports biochar development at the same time? IBI is rebuilding its website for a launch in mid-March and we've made some space available on the home page and throughout the site to feature your advertisement! Only a few spots are available, so sign up now for prime real estate on IBI's new website.
